Minorities

All the citizens in a democracy have the freedom to protect their culture.No one can be persecuted on the basis of religion,race,caste or language.

All minority communities whether religious,linguistic or otherwise have equal rights to reside in different parts of the country and to protect their individuality.

Democracy can succeed only if people have faith in this system.If we have any disagreement,we should express them in a peaceful manner and try to understand the decisions of the government before protesting against them.Only then will our democracy be able to function at its best.
